WE ARE HERE FOR YOU

Social distancing has become mandatory in almost every environment in our ever-changing world and because of that the need for safety and social distancing products has grown exponentially. With the economy beginning to open up slowly state by state, county by county, city by city, how do you see your business operating? Are you ready to open with all of the safety tools in place to keep your employees and customers safe?

Based on this foreseen challenge, Super Color Digital has developed several essential safety and social distancing products for nearly every industry.

SOCIAL DISTANCING COUNTERTOP BARRIER SOLUTIONS

The CDC has recommended that we keep a social distance of 6' per person. For many people, it is very hard to judge exactly how far 6' away is from another person. Because of this, you will find people congregating, standing in lines, or at reception or retail counters well within the 6' social distance safety area. Many areas require mandatory close interaction in the retail & office environments and are well within the 6' recommended social distance safety area, making it a major health concern.

Super Color Digital has created countertop safety barrier to help with this concern. These barriers are designed to work in any environment from retail, office, or reception areas. The protective barriers are made to create a buffer between people in almost any environment. The buffer helps deflect a large number of airborne particles that may be produced by breathing or by an involuntary cough or a sneeze.

The barrier is constructed out of clear polycarbonate, which are used in a wide range of applications, such as high-performance windshields, car headlights, eyeglass lenses, bullet proof "glass." The barriers are designed to be stronger and more durable than ordinary glass.
